

City Officials Drop Unaired Charges Against Petrey

The Hazard Board of Commissioners unanimously rejected preferring formal charges against Alcoholic Beverage Administrator Claude Petrey, Monday night, after being told by Petrey: "I want this board to prefer the charges and eat these charges or throw them away."

The Board's action virtually cleared Petrey of unaired charges which were to have been brought against him, Monday night, by Commissioner George Feltner.

Feltner seconded a motion by Commissioner Calloway Colwell that no charges be made against the city's A.B.C. administrator.

Colwell's motion came only shortly after the Board had gone into an executive session to discuss the charges. Only Mayor Douglas Combs, Commissioner Colwell and Feltner, Petrey, City Manager Hobert Wooten and City Attorney Ernest Faulkner were allowed in the one-half hour closed door meeting. Members of the press were excluded.

The actual charges remain a secret to all but the persons who were admitted to the executive session.

First mention of the charges came last month when Commissioner Feltner told other members of the board and City Manager Hobert Wooten that he would give them 30 days to get rid of Petrey. Feltner said then if Petrey wasn't fired by the February meeting, he would bring formal charges against him.

Twice during Monday night's discussion of the charges, Petrey, who wasn't present at last month's meeting, interrupted to speak in his own defense.

At one point Feltner said: "I have these charges and gentlemen it needs to be done." "I'll prove to every man and woman that it needs to be done (remove Petrey). There comes a time when a man has to take his stand."

Moments later, Petrey stood from the audience and asked that the charges be aired, saying: "I don't want these charges to go on."

Later when Feltner was discussing the charges and witnesses he had to support them, Petrey rose again and commented: "I've been Alcoholic Beverage Control administrator for 4 years. I've acted arbitrary to some of them (whiskey and beer retailers), but the Frankfort A.B.C. board has always ruled in my favor."

Petrey continued by saying that he had never taken a gift and that he had "done everything to be a good A.B.C. man."

He concluded: "I don't care what kind of charges you have, I don't have anything to be ashamed of."

Feltner had previously stated there was nothing in Journalism Bldg. U of K. g into the executive session, Feltner said during discussion preceding the executive session, Mayor Combs, Commissioner Colwell and City Manager Wooten told Feltner they had uncovered nothing to justify removing Petrey.

At one point, Colwell said: "I've done a little investigating on this thing, but discussing this with various other people, I haven't come up with a thing." He asked Feltner if he was sure he had the witnesses who would appear before an open hearing to support the charges.

Feltner replied by noting he had the notarized statement of at least one person, witnessed by four other people.

When questioned by Mayor Wooten as to what he could find out about Petrey, City Manager Wooten replied: "I can't find anything to justify Mr. Petrey's removal from office. Everything I've found has been in favor of Mr. Petrey."

During the discussion, Feltner said the charges would be a "wet-dry" election in the county this year.

Just before the executive session, Feltner said he was anxious for the matter to be settled harmoniously, and when the officials arose to enter the close chamber, Feltner and Pet-of the "second charge" that he had the time, place, names and police and court records to support it. He indicated the witnesses were under oath.

Once out of the executive session the drama was continued before only a slightly smaller crowd than had packed the city hall for the monthly board meeting.

When the board was questioned by Mayor Combs as to its decision, Feltner replied: "It's a pretty hard decision. I feel that I'm doing my duty, but it seems that if I present these charges, I'll have to present them all, and it's pretty rough."

Feltner said he didn't think Petrey had been performing his duties, but that he had improved since the charges were mentioned.

He continued by saying that something must be done to curb the sale of alcoholic beverages to minors.

It was at this point that Petrey interrupted from the doorway of the city hall and told the board to "prefer or eat" the charges.

Feltner said he would keep the charges for awhile because "things might work out," and Colwell then made his motion.

County Is Broke Judge Tells Court

Perry County is in "somewhat of a deplorable condition," financially, County Judge J. A. Smith told the new Fiscal Court, meeting together for the first time Tuesday afternoon.

County magistrates and an audience of officials seeking back pay were given a dismal picture of the county's fiscal status and told it might be "eight months" before some debts can be paid unless the court negotiates a loan.

In his opening address to the court, Judge Smith said: "We're in very poor condition at present for paying officials because of the condition of the treasury."

"The outgoing administration is supposed to leave a minimum of 35 percent in the treasury," Judge Smith explained the absence of this money by noting: "There's been a lot of construction due to Civil Defense, and as a result, the county is already over spent."

Judge Smith said the county is due $91,834.33 in Civil Defense money, but it was his understanding that Civil Defense authorities have been making considerable cuts in tax claims being submitted. He said he couldn't be sure just how much the county will eventually receive.

He said even if the county got the full amount, it would have but approximately $26,000 left after the payment of existing notes and bank loans.

In addition, he continued, the county has approximately $11,000 in claims on file.

"Just as soon as the flood money comes in," he said, "we'll pay salaries and what debts we have."

Judge Smith told the court that while the 1957-58 budget had $15,000 for the county jail all but around $900 of that amount had already been spent.

Bill Caudill, former county jailor, one of several persons there to collect money owed them, told the court the jail money had been exhausted because the county had owed him back money. Caudill asked the court pass on his claim for the jailor's salary in November and December.

The hold-up in the payment of Civil Defense funds to the county brought critical comments from County Attorney C. A. Noble.

In a brief address during the opening minutes of court, Noble said: "No personal prejudices should enter into Civil Defense money. I can't understand why some people want to hold up the payment of civil defense money."

"Whoever might be stopping the payment of this money should be big enough to realize that by holding up payment they are hurting the people of Perry County."

Noble also told the court that for it's orders to be legal, the minute book must be signed by the magistrates and the County Judge. His remark was a reference to the fact that previous administration had on occasion failed to do this. In other business, the court:

1. authorized an office for the commonwealth's attorney in the courthouse, and requested the county judge and county attorney to look into this matter. Unanimous.

2. approved a motion to have each magistrate approve applicants within their districts for commodity claims. Unanimous.

3. authorized painting and repair of office of Circuit Court Judge Courtney C. Wells and main courtroom. Unanimous.

4. set salary for commodity director at $250 a month, and consolidated individual jobs of commodity director and commodity clerk into one job.

5. discharged the present commodity clerk, Lennie Banks, effective Feb. 15.

6. agreed to receive applications for the position of commodity director until the next meeting of the Fiscal Court. Unanimous.

7. appointed committee to investigate possibility of converting part of courthouse lawn along Court Street into parking lot for public officials. Committee is Judge Smith, Noble and Noplis. Unanimous.

8. authorized installation of lavatory facilities in office of county attorney. For: Estill Pollard, Burnam Thomas, Gene Combs, Curt Engle and Babe Noplis; against, Bradley Combs, Fess Halcomb and Buster Begley.

9. approved a motion to receive bids on lavatory installation. Unanimous.

10. approved a motion to have county attorney investigate sale of public land by county school board (See story elsewhere.) Unanimous.

Eversole Named Seal Chairman

Dates for the 1958 campaign have been set for March 10 through April 6. During that period Easter Seals will be mailed to 400,000 Kentuckians together with a letter requesting contributions to further the work of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children.

J. C. Eversole Jr., of Sterling Hardware Co., has been named chairman of the 1958 Easter Seal Appeal for crippled children in Perry County, it has been announced by O. L. McElroy, Eminence, state chairman.

During 1957 direct aid was given to a total of 3,066 physically handicapped children by the Society. An additional 6,944 received indirect help from the Society in cooperation with such agencies as the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission and the State Department of Education.

Cost of the program to the Society was $287,201, of which $223,845 was raised through the sale of Easter Seals. The funds financed hospital and medical care, therapy, special schooling, equipment, such as braces and crutches, and hearing services for children throughout Kentucky.

In releasing these statistics, McElroy said, "Easter Seal funds provide a broad program of service for physically handicapped children throughout Kentucky. The response of Kentuckians to the Easter Seal Appeal makes it possible for the Society to reach additional children each year."

In March the Society will open a new Hearing Center in Louisville, and a portion of the money raised will be used for its staffing and operation. The center will provide testing, speech training, lip reading and other services for those with hearing and speech problems.

At the present time there is only one other such center in operation—the Audiology Clinic at the University of Kentucky, which serves east and central portions of the state.

Future Plans
Future plans include development of a 122-acre residential camp in Carroll County for physically handicapped children. This will be the Society's first such camp in Kentucky. The camping area will adjoin Butler State Park and will serve children throughout Kentucky.

"This program is vital to community welfare," McElroy stressed, "and meets a need fulfilled by no other voluntary health organization in Kentucky."

Broad Program
In releasing these statistics, McElroy said, "Easter Seal funds provide a broad program of service for physically handicapped children throughout Kentucky. The response of Kentuckians to the Easter Seal Appeal makes it possible for the Society to reach additional children each year."

In March the Society will open a new Hearing Center in Louisville, and a portion of the money raised will be used for its staffing and operation. The center will provide testing, speech training, lip reading and other services for those with hearing and speech problems.

At the present time there is only one other such center in operation—the Audiology Clinic at the University of Kentucky, which serves east and central portions of the state.

The meeting, originally scheduled for last month, was postponed then by District Commander Ralph Disney, Cumberland, because of weather.

Calitri said that following the meeting the local V.F.W. post to attend the meeting before several important projects will be discussed.

The 14th District, one of the most active in the State is composed of posts from Whitesburg, Neon, Cumberland, Manchester, Pineville and Hazard.

Calitri said that following the meeting, refreshments will be served and a square dance will be held, starting at 9:00 a. m. Playing for the dance will be Cotton Johnson and his band.

City Hears Request For Recreation

City commissioners, Monday night, were requested to appoint a board or commission to investigate what can be done about public recreation in Hazard and Perry County.

Gorman cited the Memorial Gymnasium as evidence of what the people will do for children and teenagers, but noted that the city needs something now the "kids can get too and use."

Gorman drew support on his request from City Attorney Ernest Faulkner who said: "From the bus station to the bridge is the playground" of Hazard.

Faulkner said something must be done to take 6 year olds children off Main Street, noting: "Last night, Sunday, they were all over it."

Later in the meeting, City Commissioner George Feltner said the city should re-enforce its curfew ordinance. The ordinance provides that children will be off the streets by 9 p. m., except on nights of ball games and when accompanied by parents.

Although in law, it has not been enforced.

At the suggestion of Commissioner Colwell, the board agreed to discuss the curfew ordinance with school officials, the police department and members of the Parent Teacher Associations before taking action.

During discussion on the curfew, Commissioner Feltner said County Judge J. A. Smith had assured him the county would cooperate with the city to see that the law is enforced.

Feltner also suggested that something should be done about the dumping of garbage on Bluegrass Mountain.

City Manager Hobert Wooten said the Town Mountain road is now under the State Rural Roads program and that the State Police have been asked "to handle the situation."

Wooten said he has been informed by the Health Department that the property owner is responsible for the sanitary conditions of his property.

Feltner said the garbage of Bluegrass Mountain is "terrible" and that it is piled "from where you cross the railroad tracks to the top of the mountain," and added, it "is rolling into the yards of residents" of the area.

Commissioner Feltner also asked the city manager to investigate reports that the L. & N. railroad is dumping "ashes or dust" into the river near the tunnel and filling the river bed up. City Manager Wooten said he would look into the matter, but that there was some question as to whether the city has the authority to prevent dumping along river banks and into the river.

Also requested by Commissioner Feltner was that the city install a drain at Walkertown on the River Road and install brighter lights throughout the city.

City Manager Wooten told the board that he and officials of the Kentucky Power Co. had been discussing the lighting situation within the city, and he had hopes that not only larger bulbs would be installed but that the power would be increased.

In other business, the board:

1. Unanimously approved an increase in the city's share of the proposed sewage disposal plant. The plant, to be partially financed under a federal grant.

2. Unanimously approved hiring a clerk for Police Judge Ralph Peters and set the salary at $50 a month.

3. Agreed to meet with attorney Duff Arnett and his client, Henry Hall, Winchester, to iron out differences on a claim for $11,000 Hall has made against the city in connection with the construction of the city water plant.

4. Approved a request by City Manager Wooten authorizing "horsetrading" of sidewalk repairs in front of the First Baptist Church for an equal stretch of repairs behind the Hurst Snyder building. Sidewalk repairs in front of the church are included in construction plans of the new church.

Jail Returns To Normalcy After Breakout, Violence
The Perry County jail was back to normalcy today following a jailbreak, Monday afternoon, and an outbreak of mild violence, Tuesday.

Both prisoners in the break were recaptured within 12 hours after an accomplice had pinned Jailer Charlie Maggard to a cell wall, allowing them time to flee.

The two escapees were Erin Thomas and Arthur Fugate, both charged with grand larceny.

Thomas was recaptured in the L. & N. yard around 2:30 a. m. Tuesday morning, by Deputy Sheriffs Charlie Stidham and James Morris. The two deputies slipped up on him as he was preparing to start a fire.

Fugate was picked up by City Patrolmen Arle Kilburn and James Cassidy within two hours after the 4:00 p. m. jailbreak. Fugate was captured by the two officers as he started to cross the L. & N. bridge on North Main Street.

The two prisoners escaped when Jailer Maggard opened the door of the cell block to place another prisoner in confinement.

Thomas, and Fugate grabbed Maggard and shoved him up against the wall. Their accomplice, Willard Couch, pulled a blackjack from Maggard's pocket and threatened to kill him with it if he moved. Fugate and Thomas then escaped down the stairs and out the side of the jail. Couch remained in the cell block.

Wednesday's disturbance broke out after the two had been recaptured and placed in special confinement. Three city policemen, four deputies and a State Policeman were called in by Jailer Maggard before the disturbance was halted.

Fugate and Thomas stopped up a commode with a blanket, turned faucets on, flooding the cell block, and created general confusion. A few other prisoners joined in by tossing their food on the floor and by breaking plastic dinner utensils.

One prisoner, Clyde Fugate, threw a light receptacle at the officers.

To prevent another outbreak of violence, both Arthur and Clyde Fugate were transferred to the city jail.

Christian Churches Plan Annual Convention

Dr. Leslie R. Smith, Lexington, Ky., Jan. 23—(Special)—More than 4,000 members of Christian churches in Kentucky will assemble April 29, 30 and May 1 at the First Christian church in Mt. Sterling for the 1958 meeting of the Kentucky Convention of Christian Churches, it was announced today by Dr. Leslie R. Smith, Convention president.

Dr. Smith said it is the goal of the state registration committee, headed by Mrs. Russell Woodward of Lexington, to obtain 4,000 registrations before the Convention opens.

Most of the Convention's meetings will be held at the host church, opening Tuesday morning, April 29, and closing Thursday night, May 1. The annual statewide meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship is scheduled for Tuesday, April 29, also at First Christian Church in Mt. Sterling.

The Christian churches are completely congregational in their government. The state convention has no legislative powers but is a voluntary organization the congregations have set up to hear reports from missionary and educational agencies, to present Brotherhood programs and to furnish inspiration and fellowship for all who attend.

Dr. Smith pointed out that churches do not send delegates to the state conventions but individual church members are urged to register and attend the annual conventions.

"From the very founding of the Christian Churches here in Kentucky 154 years ago, our people have been banding themselves together to carry on statewide programs—particularly programs of evangelism and the organization of new churches."

"Although our programs are more varied and complicated today than they were in the early 1800's, they still are a reflection of the thinking, the hopes of our church members. The more of our members who maintain active interest and support of our conventions, the better our programs can be worked out.

"That is why the work of the local registrars is so very important. Church democracy—like in secular government—takes more time and effort. The local registrars are the people who have faith enough in it, however, to spend the time and effort to interest the uninterested or uninformed churchmen and women."

Dr. Smith—who is minister of the state's largest Christian church, Central Christian church of Lexington—was elected convention president at the 1957 assembly in Paducah. He is serving for one year. Other convention officers this year are: William McConnell, Louisville, vice-president; Mrs. O. F. Botts, Owensville, vice-president; Miss Gladys Scheer, Lexington, secretary, and Mrs. Russell Woodward, Lexington, treasurer.

Youngsters May Learn Assembly And Modeling

Nearly every family in the country has a youngster whose hobby is assembling and collecting models of Navy ships and planes. Now, says Chief L. D. Binkership, they can demonstrate what they've learned about the Navy while having fun.

A national "Pride of the Navy" contest has just been launched. To win one of the more than a thousand prizes, youngsters must identify Navy ships and planes and write what they've learned about the Navy while model building. Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, Rear Admiral John J. Bergen, National President of the Navy League and Rear Admiral Robert W. Berry, Regional President of the Navy League are judges.

Parents, no doubt, will be urging their junior Navy lads to participate. Prizes include dad going along with the grand prize winner on an exciting trip sponsored by the Navy League's Navy Buddy Program: a 10 day vacation on a Tucson, Arizona dude ranch with Mom as an escort is another; and let's not forget the swimming pool.

Free entry blanks may be had at any F. W. Woolworth store co-sponsors with Revell, Inc. of the contest, which ends April 15th, as their contribution to a national Navy, stay-in-school education program.

Chief Binkership and E. Cain says they are available at Navy Recruiting Office from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. to help identify the fleet and its air arm.

Gasoline Fire Burns Man's Arm And Hand

Charles Mooney

Gene Hansford from Leatherwood burned his hand and arm at Isom's Garage when he was lighting a cigarette and then put the burning match down in a bucket of gasoline. When the gas ignited, he attempted to knock out the flames, which scattered the gas and made the flames worse. Finally the flame was smothered out by other workers at the garage.

Our sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Oberine Trent, of Daisy, who lost their eight month old baby. The baby got sick suddenly and died at the Mt. Mary Hospital, Jan. 28.

This seems to be the season for new babies again. To Billie and Ethel Couch,

TRUTH-AD FOR THE UNCHURCHED

By WINN T. BARR

In this column we have shown many passages in the Bible that mention how to be saved, and also mention the attitude of contrite dependence (repenting faith) as the condition of salvation. The attitude is always mentioned as completely sufficient. But baptism is not mentioned in these passages, and by comparison is seldom mentioned in the Bible.

The only possible way, then, to maintain that baptism is essential to salvation is to say that the saving attitude includes baptism, that the ceremony is part of the attitude. But this is impossible, because baptism is of a nature foreign to and different from conversion. Conversion is an attitude; baptism is a ceremony, a work. No work can be a part of the attitude itself. "Therefore it is of faith that it might be by grace" (Rom. 4:16). "And if by grace, then is it no more of works; otherwise grace is no more grace. But if it be of works, then is it no more grace; otherwise work is no more work" (Rom. 11:6). Baptism is a work of righteousness which we do (Matt. 3:15). But the Scriptures say in Titus 3:5, "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us."

This religious conversion of attitude has three aspects and is sometimes called by any one of them: repentance and faith and prayer. Repentance is the turning away from sin, faith is turning to Christ, and prayer is the immediate expression of it to God; but all are parts of this moral, spiritual turning, all partake of the nature of attitude, all are inseparable aspects of conversion, all are strictly psychological rather than physical as baptism is, all are personal rather than social and formal as baptism is.

In making up your mind you ought to remember the meaning of words, the definition of words. You have to decide in the sincerity of your own soul whether baptism is a work or an attitude. Is it made of the same stuff as repentance and faith and calling on the Lord? Baptism by definition is a work, and cannot be a part of conversion; but repentance and faith and calling on the Lord are not works of righteousness. Let us be careful to rightly divide the Word of Truth.

Social Security Pays $394,000 Within Region

As the year 1957 came to a close about 11,000 people in the eight county service area of the Hazard District Office were receiving approximately $394,000 each month in old-age, survivors and disability benefits. In announcing these figures, Alma D. Knox, District Manager of the Hazard social security office, stressed these are insurance payments that go to qualified old folks, widows, children and disabled persons regardless of their need.

The year 1957 saw a steady increase in the number of people applying for payments. In the Hazard district 2,963 new claims for benefits were filed which was a 45 percent increase over 1956. Claims for disability benefits and for the "disability freeze" were filed by 948 persons. General inquiries about the social security program answered by the office staff numbered 13,759. Beneficiaries accounted for an additional 2,407 interviews.

In the district during 1957, original social security cards were issued to 5,013 people who were starting to work for the first time. There were 2,641 persons who lost their social security cards and were issued duplicates.

The increase over former years is due primarily to amendments to the social security law. These changes brought many persons under social security coverage for the first time. Another change provided for cash monthly payments at age 50 to workers who can meet the requirements for disability benefits. Payments to qualified dependent children who were disabled before age 18 and remain disabled after age 18 were provided for by the amendments. The retirement age for women was reduced to age 62. Coverage of the armed forces was provided for also. This increased coverage means in the future thousands of people will qualify for benefits who were formerly barred from the program.

"Some day you or your family will probably be among those receiving benefits," Mrs. Knox said. "Make sure you get all that is coming to you by taking the following precautions:

- (1) be sure every person you work for has a record of your correct name and social security number.
- (2) If self-employed, be sure your correct name and social security number are on your tax returns.
- (3) check your social security earnings record at least every three years to make sure all your earnings are properly credited—get a card for this purpose from your social security office.

(4) contact your social security office when you reach retirement age.

(5) after the death of a person whose work was covered by social security, the survivors should call at the social security office.

DILCE COMBS

Dilce Combs Loses Teacher To State

Mary Pratt

Georgia Duncin

The Dilce Combs Panthers defeated Buckhorn, 80-65, to bring their season total to 11 wins and 10 losses. High scorers for the game were Kenneth Combs, 16, Joe Barnett, 15 and Bo Begley, 14.

Lee Roy Smith has been unable to play during the past week due to a sprained ankle.

It is hoped that the boys will improve their playing to make it interesting for the favored team in the coming District Tournament this month.

Come on boys and girls. Let's get behind our Panthers, give them a pat on the back.

Mr. Marvin Combs, one of our teachers, will be leaving his teaching position, Feb. First, to accept a job with the Child Welfare Division of the Department of Economic Security. He will be working out of the office in Hazard, and will be dealing mostly with adoptions and juvenile cases. We will be sorry to lose Mr. Combs and we wish him a lot of success in his new job.

The Bible Club, sponsored by Miss Smith has a membership of sixty and meets once a week. Their schedule for the month includes a guest speaker, a film and two programs that the students have planned and in which they participate. Last week Mrs. Bill Shade was the guest, she showed a film on the life of the Navajo Indians and her work with them.

A new subject, Library Science, is being taught to the Freshmen here at school, by our librarian, Mrs. Smith. The subject deals with the Dewey Decimal Classification System and the Card Catalogue.

Mr. Brashear, a member of the committee on "In Service Teacher Training," met with the County Supervisor of Schools in the office of the County Superintendent, Mr. Gilbert Bowling, to plan a future meeting of teachers studying guidance.

The members of the 4-H Club are planning to present a play in the early Spring to the student body. The purpose of this play is to encourage the students in the Conservation and the Preservation of our Natural Resources.

BUTCH MOORE

Lorene "Butch" Moore, of the All American Red Heads, greatest girl's basketball team in the history of girl's basketball, comes from Caraway, Arkansas. The diminutive Red Head, standing only 5'6" is not to be looked down on but rather looked up to, as she is again leading her team in scoring for the 9th consecutive season. One of the most terrific passers, and ball handler de luxe, a super showman, as well as a dynamic personality makes "Butch" an all time great.

The little fun prankster of the Red Heads can do it all, from gimmicks to gags, from antics to routines. Pivot for all the zany and pranks, "Butch" rates as one of the finest performers to be seen anywhere. "Butch" has sparked her team to an average of 120 wins per season for the past 9 years. Trapisin Troublesome

The ground hog saw his shadow in this neck of the woods so woe into us, as a long cold spell stretcheth forth. We remember the predictions of Levi Tuttle last summer when he observed the hornets nest built high to the ground and I did notice when the big wooly bear sought a place to hibernate last fall he had no orange stripe across his back and I remembered how Morgan Stone once told me we could look out for a hard winter when that orange stripe was narrow.

I feed a whole multitude of birds each morning, robins, cardinals and several kinds I don't know; but of course the greatest number are city sparrows. How does man know that God calls him by his first name? Because the Book of Life tells us that "God Knows Every Sparrow that Falls," so it should never be said that one of these important citizens fell by the hand of man for then the world has lost part of it's joy.

The place where I feed my birds has accumulated hundreds of cats, thousands of cats, millions and billions and trillions of cats with but one purpose in mind: to feast on those birds; so I just feed all those cats too; but I do wish you'd all call off your cats lest they gobble up my important citizens.

Boys, since all season's for hunting is over, I would say the season is now open for tall tales of your past season's experiences. One for instance, Doug Gabbard, who is with our Perry County School System. It seems that Doug had a young dog that encountered a rather wild bunch of quail. Doug thought the dog was flushing them, an idea struck Doug that if he got down on his hand and knees and just work along his dog that he would be able to show him just what to do.

Doug had marked this last flight of the quail to a dot, he knew that he could show his dog where he was making his mistakes. Doug was still about crawling on his belly along side his dog, when suddenly his dog reached out with his paw, placed it upon Doug's arm and stopped him.

Of course, the birds were there. Doug without a doubt I would say that you are going to have to take a summer off from going to school, and take a few more lessons from that dog.

Eager Beavers

I would say is none other than Johnny Delpont, Monroe Noble and Truman Combs that journeyed over Clinch River way Jan. 2 to fish. Boys, I would say from your reports that you broke the ice more ways than one. At least you really got it out of your systems. Just be patient, it won't be too long now, you realize this is still January. That was when you made your flip. I must say I admire your spunk for being the early birds, that old saying the early birds gets the worms.

Interesting

It seems that our former magistrate Sam Campbell bought himself a six year old mare not too long ago. Folks, you know Sam is no longer a spring chicken. I would say knocking around the 70's or better. It seems the first night Sam brought this mare home. He was fixing her a place in the stable, along with the chores was his young grand son Bill, age 10 that wanted to see everything well done. It seems that Sam wanted the mare to move over to one side of the stable. It seems that the mare didn't want to move, so she ups and slaps Big Sam with a kick on the knee. Little Bill ups and states Pap Paw you asked for it. You slapped her first. Sam, I would say do you slapping on mares from now on out of the sight of your grand son. If she wasn't a saddle mare, I wonder what you wanted with her, Sam. I am confident that you are not going to do too much plowing.

Maybe the reason you bought her is to keep the old family tradition as you knew it all your life, that is to have at least one horse or mule around the place. Of course you could have been wanting to show little Bill a few things of your boyhood days. I would say this wouldn't have been a very bad idea. I often wonder that so many of our youngsters that are growing up today would know how to place the bits in a horses mouth, or the saddle on its back. Much less placing a set of gears on one. That was the hardest thing for me to learn. Sam, no doubt this boy will learn a lot from this mare.

Johnston Has Outlined Basic Program For Post Office

There is no better publicized "mess" in Washington today than the Post Office. Chairman Olin D. Johnston, of the Senate Committee on Post Office and Civil Service, calls it "staggering," estimates the postal deficit at two million dollars a day.

But, despite his 13 years on this unpopular committee—seven as chairman—the Senator is still optimistic. Writing in the February issue of Reader's Digest, he outlines a four step program by which "in a few years we can get out of this postal mess and have the best mail service in the world."

First, Senator Johnston would "establish a basic postal policy," separating postal costs that should be paid by users of the mails from non-postal costs that should be borne by the Government as public services. The author listed eleven examples of extraneous post office services—such as the sale of "duck" stamps to water-fowl hunters, sale and redemption of Government savings bonds and stamps, registry of aliens, counting deer and grouse, handling donations for a dozen nation-wide charity drives a year and helping the families of deceased veterans procure funeral flags.

Next, with policy firmly established, it would be possible to "raise postal rates rationally."

The third step, a truly colossal one, would be "a long-range, big-scale modernization program for the construction of efficient building, streamlining of facilities, development of advanced mechanical devices." To pay for this, the Senator has already proposed that Congress authorize the Postmaster General to borrow two billion dollars from the Federal Employees' Retirement Fund at 3 1/2 percent. This would make the Fund members happy since their money, invested in Treasury bonds, presently earns only 2 1/2 percent, and still be a break for the Post Office which is now paying 4 percent on its limited borrowings.

Finally, Senator Johnston would "increase employee efficiency" by paying more money—enough more, for instance, that a postal worker wouldn't have to get an extra job (as many now do) to make ends meet.

It is pretty certain at this writing that pos-

Recalling

Old times as related to me by Mrs. Amanda Jane Kelly, which was in her younger days Knuckles. She tells me of the time Dr. Mason Combs the son of Clinton Combs up Carr Creek way, was trapping one winter, that he really caught a fish in a steel trap.

Look out boys catching a fish in a steel trap is legal providing it is during the legal trapping season. I can understand why a fish could be caught this way over a baited trap. Thanks to you Amanda for this information. I know many of you will recall Dr. Mason and his father Clinton, as the old timers of our area.

Good and Bad

Reports I have received from many of you hunters, I realize on the last part of the season was mostly bad. Also had some favorable reports, Carl Madden, Bob Bibb, Bruce Muncy hunting grouse. I dare say that Carl has had more experience in hunting this type bird than many I know of in Eastern, Ky. He was born and raised amongst them. He knows their habits.

Nice hearing from you Earl Holt up Whitesburg way, glad to know that you enjoyed a good squirrel hunting season.

Rabbit reports are very good from Willie Cornett, J. W. Boone, Stafford Miller, Bill Combs and many others that reports their limit of the cotton tail in and around Richmond.

Odds and Ends

It seems that a young kid when along with his father to visit in the country out near the well he noticed what was a gourd to drink out of, he looked up at his dad, and stated "Gee Dad look there what a pipe."

So folks, I would say you should take the kids out and show them these many things that they haven't had a chance to learn about their ancestors, and the true things of life as you knew them.

Jack Duff down Chavies way, tells us a good one about an electric fence he installed, when the dogs would run into it, run off a few steps and stop to look back at it. Also his cattle how they would act the first time they came in contact with it.

Believe it was Palmer Engle from out Lotts Creek way told a similar story, he says the electric fence is fine for every thing but goats. It seems that Palmer acquired a few goats to help him clear up some land that was mostly thickets. He put a electric fence around it which he thought would hold his goats in this area. He tells me that the first old goat that got into this fence, just backed off few paces, made a run for it with his head down, and under this electric fence he went, the others saw what he did and they likewise did the same. So what holds true for one will not stand up for the other, this we find I am sure in all things.

Folks, if you haven't joined your fish and game club already this year, why not get your name on the roster today. The Junior Club boys are selling memberships. If they sell so many they get all expense paid trip to the summer camping program this year, help these kids make their quota by joining today. Are you doing your part?

tal rates will be increased (to four cents, not five, on first class mail) and that postal workers will get an across the board wage hike. But to take steps two and four without the vital first and third will be worse than useless. Only a basic reorientation and a complete modernization program such as Senator Johnston outlines can clean up the "mess"—and make it possible for us to get better service when we pay more for our stamps.

PAPER PULPIT

Non-Sectarian For The Unchurched

If the Bible is our manual of outer space, it ought to tell us whether there are beings which inhabit outer space.

It does! It describes angels which inhabit space and are messengers of God. In Luke 16:22 Christ described them as escorting departing souls to Heaven. Two of them are spoken of with personal names: Michael, the Archangel, and Gabriel. Gabriel had dealings with Daniel, and with Zachariah and with the virgin Mary. Quite a bit of time elapsed between Daniel and these others, but Gabriel was still around when Christ was born. When Christ returns, all the Holy Angels will come with Him (Matt. 25:31).

Yes, the space Book says that there are beings which inhabit space. —W. T. Barr

Governor Metcalfe—"Old Stone Hammer"

Charles F. Hinds

Thomas Metcalfe, Kentucky's ninth governor was a stonemason by trade. It has been said that he helped to build the Old Governor's Mansion and the Greensburg Courthouse in Green County. The Old Governors Mansion is now the home of the Lieutenant-Governors, while the old Greensburg Courthouse is reputed to be the oldest courthouse still standing in Kentucky today.

There is an interesting story, not corroborated by two of Frankfort's leading newspapers of the period, that Governor Desha threatened to refuse office to Metcalfe, his successor, because he didn't think that a stonemason was dignified enough to be Governor.

This story probably had its origin in Desha's insistence that his term overlap that of Metcalfe's by the number of days necessary to complete his four-year term. The Kentucky Constitution was not clear on the point of exactly when one term ended and another began, stating in one place that the office shall begin on the fourth Tuesday following the election and, in another, that the office shall continue for four weeks past the election. Governor Desha was merely following the custom of previous governors of staying in office one week beyond the inaugural ceremonies of their successors.

On September 2, 1828, four years to the day, Governor Desha, who appeared to be most concerned about receiving a full pay check, turned over the executive seal and archives to Governor Metcalfe.

Metcalfe was born in Fauquier County, Va., in 1789, the son of a militia officer of the Revolution. When he was four or five years old, the family moved first to Fayette County in Kentucky and later to Nicholas. It was there he received a very rudimentary education. When about sixteen, he was apprenticed to a stonemason. As a young man, Metcalfe compensated for the lack of a sound, formal education through independent study and reading habits.

In 1812 he was elected to the State House. From that time until a few years before his death, he was active in politics. He served also in the State Senate and in the United States House and Senate.

Although a militia officer like many of the aspiring politicians of his day, Governor Metcalfe seemed to have preferred the title of "Old Stone Hammer" of that to "General." He died in Nicholas County in 1855.

Triumph Of Polio Means Considerable

A new kind of celebration is in full swing in this country. This month thousands of communities in every part of the land are observing the 20th anniversary of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It was National Foundation leadership and National Foundation money, provided through the annual March of Dimes, that made possible the Salk vaccine and the hope that polio epidemics eventually will be eliminated forever in America.

Think what that means! No more mass imprisonment in iron lungs each summer; no more shriveled arms, legs, hands; no more dread in the hearts of millions of parents each time their children come home with "the symptoms."

The best way to celebrate a blessing like this is to show our gratitude. And the best way to be grateful for the Salk vaccine is to think about the blighted lives of those for whom it has come too late and to do what we can to wipe out or relieve their helplessness. There are in America, some 100,000 boys and girls, young men and women, who have had polio and who need further rehabilitation.

These people can benefit, some of them tremendously, if modern techniques of rehabilitation are applied to their disability. It is the purpose of the March of Dimes to finance the care they need. The cost will run to many millions. And the March of Dimes looks to us—to every one of us—to give what we can toward this wonderful objective.

Let's not forget those who were not as lucky as we. Let's remember, as the March of Dimes puts it, that "Survival Is Not Enough." Let's give!

Good Future Serve For Coal Industry

Coal production, to use a round figure, has been running at a 500 million-ton-a-year clip. What are the future prospects?

That's an interesting question, in the light of the other energy sources both new and old which the world has available today. And a number of carefully calculated forecasts concerning coal production and demand in 1975 have been made.

In a 1962 report, the President's Materials Policy Commission put the 1975 figure at 800 million-plus tons. In 1956, the Panel on Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy forecast a 1975 minimum for coal of 674 million tons and a maximum of 910 million tons. In the same year, a Bureau of Mines report on coal's possibilities put the 1975 minimum at 759 million tons and the maximum at a tremendous 1,645,000,000 tons.

It is natural that such forecasts should vary so widely. But what is significant is that, in all cases, they anticipate markedly greater production than that of today. It is felt, in other words, that coal will become an increasingly important energy source, in spite of the atom and other sources. And 1975 is a mere seventeen years off. In the following years coal is expected to go right on marching ahead.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "A friend of ours used to stay in trim by scattering a handful of pennies in his bedroom every morning and stooping for them. Now he's getting fat—says there's no incentive in it anymore. He's going to try dimes next week."

LAS CRUCES, N. M., CITIZEN: "If you drive a car, there is no better resolution you can make than to drive safely throughout the year. If you are unwilling to take that responsibility, you have no right to drive. And if you won't take the responsibility, your chances of being among the dead in highway accidents are good."

ALAMEDA, CALIF., TIMES STAR: "Governor Goodwin J. Knight pointed to California's many contributions to nuclear knowledge—the development of the original cyclotron by Dr. Ernest Lawrence; the UC radiation laboratory at Berkeley, the AEC installation at Livermore; the Mare Island atomic submarine construction. But of all our might, achievements, the most significant, the most heartening must be the fact that private industry's reactor and power generator have been pumping some 5,000 kilowatts of atomic electricity into the kitchens and factories, the living rooms and shops of this state."

State Senator Reports On Frankfort Activities

Senator M. B. "Tug" Fields

Dear Folks:

It's been quite a good while since I last reported to you about what's going on in the Legislature. I'll make my letters come more often between now and the time the General Assembly adjourns.

Chester Duff, of Perry County and Hillard Kincer of Letch-er County are the new members in the House of Representatives. They're doing a good, conscientious job, and representing their counties well.

So far as the Senate is concerned, I'm now Chairman of the Labor and Industries Committee. Most of the general interest at present is centered on the budget for the next two years. We're going to have to decide how to properly spend two-thirds of a billion dollars. That's a lot of money! Different committees are working daily on this.

I introduced and got passed a Senate Resolution requesting Federalization of Ky. 15 from Winchester to Whitesburg. Our boys in the House picked it up and sent it on through. The same is true of my Resolution to name Ky. 15 "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." I also introduced (and it passed both Houses) a Resolution looking toward making a State Park of Buckhorn Reservoir. I am introducing Legislation Monday, Feb. 2, to get a College of Mines and Minerals for our mining sections.

My Senate Bill, 44, introduced January 21, requires full operating crews on all railroad trains and on trains over 100 cars, an additional 30 cars. I have also introduced a bill concerning insurance claims, and will introduce more of same. Senator Ed Warriner and I have co-sponsored a bill to enable school teachers to qualify under Social Security. You will soon be reading of my Senate Bill creating medical scholarships for dental students, who will practice in the rural areas. My Workmen's Compensation Legislation will be introduced next week. I sort of "specialize" in that type of legislation. We have a bill going to lower income taxes. It will pass!

I repeat, Representatives Kincer and Duff are doing a fine job. It feels good for a Senator to know that his opposite members in the House are ready, willing, and able to work hard for our people.

Tell your friends you saw it in the Herald.

He is survived by his wife, Etta, and two sons, Dean Bowling and Darrell Bowling, and three daughters, June, Lucille and Florence Diane.

The funeral was conducted, Sunday, Jan. 26, by the Rev. Andrew Hamblin.

Some Would Trouble You

By A. C. Grider

Paul said, in Gal. 1:7, some would trouble you and pervert the gospel of Christ. It has come to pass in our time. Man has cited "35 passages" teaching about salvation but "leaving out baptism." But, as I have noted, these passages also leave out REPENTANCE!

But let's look at the perversion. Fifteen verses are cited from the book of Romans, and the claim is made that the Romans were thus saved without baptism. But, let's read RIGHT IN ROMANS and see if such is so. Rom. 6:3 says they were baptized INTO THE DEATH of Christ and the verse also says they were baptized INTO CHRIST. But Rom. 6:4 says they were BURIED WITH Christ in baptism and raised up to walk a new life. And in Rom. 6:5, we read that they were PLANTED in the likeness of Christ's death and were in the likeness of his resurrection. Thus the Romans were OUT of Christ's death before baptism and IN his death AFTER baptism. They were OUT of Christ before baptism but were IN Christ AFTER baptism. They were NOT in the likeness of his death BEFORE baptism but were in the likeness of his death WHEN baptized. They were NOT in the likeness of his resurrection BEFORE baptism but were IN the likeness of his resurrection AFTER baptism. They were NOT walking the new life BEFORE baptism but arose FROM baptism to walk a new life.

It is as simple as A, B, and C. You CANNOT misunderstand it, even with the help of a denominational preacher. They were OUT OF Christ. They were baptized. NOW they are IN Him. They were OUT of his death. They were Baptized. NOW they are IN His death.

Sure the Romans were saved by FAITH. It was FAITH that led them to be baptized INTO THE DEATH OF CHRIST. Rom. 6:3. It was FAITH that led them to be baptized INTO CHRIST. Rom. 6:3. It was FAITH that led them to be baptized and they arose to walk a NEW LIFE. These "faith" passages don't teach you DON'T have to be baptized. In fact, they teach that you DO have to be baptized.

Doesn't faith come by hearing the word of God? Yes. Rom. 10:17. Does the word of God say he baptized? Yes. Matt. 28:19; Mark 16:16; Acts 2:38; 22:16; Rom. 6:3-5; Gal. 3:27. I could cite others but this will suffice to show that the word of God (from whence faith comes) says be baptized. How can one say he has FAITH when he refuses to be baptized?

How one can cite 35 passages that leave out both repentance and baptism and conclude that baptism is NOT essential but that repentance IS essential, I'll never know. It is preposterous. I do not believe the honest people will be long deceived. Let's be honest and take what the bible says. Attend services at Lothair Church of Christ and listen to radio Sunday 7:45.
